Safe Home—Healthy Home

We are exposed to harmful chemicals in many ways—including products we use to clean our homes or maintain our yards. Only a small portion of the more than 85,000 chemicals registered by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) have been thoroughly tested for human health concerns. Many common chemicals found in our homes can have immediate toxic effects on adults, children, and pets. Others may have long-term health effects after repeated exposure.

We can make our homes safer by adopting minor changes to how we clean our homes or care for our lawns and gardens, and through proper storage, use, and disposal of household chemicals. Consider purchasing nontoxic or low-toxic products. When considering a chemical product, ask yourself if something else you already have will do the job. Common household items such as baking soda, vinegar, and plant-based soaps can often clean just as well as specialty cleaners.

Mercury-containing items such as thermometers, thermostats, and compact fluorescent lights (CFLs) should never be put in the trash or recycling. These items won't be accepted at the 2026 Hazardous Waste Collection Day. Thermometers and thermostats are accepted free of charge at District transfer stations; put them in a plastic bag and hand them to the attendant. All types of fluorescent bulbs are accepted at Franklin County transfer stations, including Greenfield transfer station, and Lowe's Stores. Home Depot only accepts CFL bulbs. These items are also accepted at the District's regional hazardous waste "Super Sites." Fees may apply; handle items carefully.

Cell phones and certain batteries (rechargeable, lithium, Li-ion, button) should never be placed in trash or recycling, even “dead” or damaged batteries. These batteries can start fires in waste collection trucks or recycling facilities, which can be dangerous for waste workers. Proper disposal of these batteries and cell phones is free at District transfer stations; hand them to the attendant. Staples stores accept all types of batteries (including alkaline) for recycling (now $2.99 per visit). Residents can bring lead acid vehicle batteries to auto parts stores and many transfer stations for free recycling, or get paid at scrap metal dealers.
